PROPOSE LINKING LAKE TO CANAL

Y.M.B.L. Announces Its Next Civic Endeavor

ADVANTAGES CITED

Would Obviate Present Haul Via Sabine

Connecting the ship canal with Lake Sabine at a point adjacent to the city limits, so as to allow vessels to enter the canal from the lake without having to travel nine miles to Sabine, the proposal to be undertaken by the Young Men's Business League as its next big civic project, a committee being appointed at the directors' luncheon Wednesday noon to begin the movement.

Linking of the two waterways would mean much to Port Arthur as a commercial, private and amusement way, directors declared in a general discussion of the project.

Many Port Arthurians would own their own pleasure crafts and could get across to fishing centers easily if the link between the two bodies of water could be made, it was brought out.

The building was located outside the city limits but Chief LaRose accompanied a chemical engine to the scene of the fire.

The chemical also extinguished an automobile fire yesterday afternoon at 222 Tenth, the gas line on a Ford car becoming ablaze. No damage was suffered.

Another run of the afternoon was to a trash fire at Lake Shore and Dallas. A false alarm turned in at Ninth and Florida brought out the department a few minutes later.

SAYS PRO LAW CHIEFS PUPPETS OF POLITICIANS

Assistant Attorney General Makes Scathing Charge

BLAMES WHITE HOUSE

Says Enforcement Impossible Because of Influence

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A woman's letter served as the blast that stirred official Washington today from the White House to the capitol in one of the most sensational prohibition indictments since the enactment of the Volstead act.

On the basis of that letter, President Coolidge stands accused by Samuel Untermyer, lawyer, of having "used his power to prevent the people from learning the facts" concerning the alleged laxity in prohibition enforcement, which he said amounts to a "nation wide scandal."

Untermyer blames Stone

Attorney General Stone also is charged by Untermyer with having suppressed, until after election the letter "showing how this nation wide scandal" was still going on.

The letter credited by Untermyer to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, charges that she is unable to enforce the law because senators and politicians use their influence to keep unfit prohibition officials in office.

According to the text made public by Untermyer, Mrs. Willebrandt said in the letter that if she had the power she would "summarily remove" nine or ten of the United States attorneys, "because of their inactivity or political evasiveness in enforcing prohibition statutes."

Unable to Get Action

The letter represents Mrs. Willebrandt as stating that she had "in no uncertain terms" called these instances to the attention of the "person delegated to act."

While the letter explains that assistant Attorney General Holland has the authority of "disciplining" United States attorneys, the president alone can remove them, it added.

"Until, therefore, the president who alone can remove or discipline a United States attorney sees fit to do so, how much more do you think I could accomplish in the name of law enforcement by entering into open public criticism of them?" the letter asked.

The alleged Willebrandt letter, written, according to Untermyer, to Joseph M. Steele, president of the Philadelphia law enforcement league protests against criticism of her in the "league's bulletin and charges her with "foremost machinery in Pennsylvania is under political control, adding that it's a case of political strangulation at the White House."

FAIR RECEIPTS TOTAL $11,744

Exposition Pays for Self First Season

Total receipts of the Port Arthur Fair association during the first annual exposition closed last week amounted to $11,744.55, Manager A. L. Burge announced this morning stating the fair would be out of debt when all bills were in and a small surplus probably left for next year.

Total of 120,000 passed through the gates.

Burge explained the figures of those actually entering the fair grounds were much higher than the total shown in the check-up for several reasons. All members of fair committees, officers, directors, concession owners, those employed in booths and at Dedson's World shows, were admitted complimentary. Education Day was also a big one for free admissions as all school children and faculty members along with those from Port Arthur college were admitted free.

Exact figures on disbursements are not available until all bills are presented, Burge said. An expense of $8,000 for the erection of buildings and numerous other matters calling for money faced the officials when the fair opened. A payroll of $200 a day was also necessary to keep the fair machinery moving.

Port Arthur's venture of faith in the fair, Burge said, will result in this city's having the distinction of being the first major exposition in Texas to pay for itself the first year.

Port Arthur's Zoo For Sale—Brown

Port Arthur's zoo, kept for months past by Edgar Brown at the Pleasure Pier bridge, is for sale.

Keeping only a skunk and the big king snake, Brown is putting the chicken hawks, hoot owls, Mexican honeybear, fan tail pigeons, doves and two cows on the market, closing out the zoo, he said today.

"The zoo is more trouble than it's worth," Brown explained, pointing out that he had tried to get the city, various clubs and organizations in Port Arthur to sponsor the collection of animals, but all without avail.

"And then, folks stole my alligators, and others got out the pens, which add to the troubles of keeping the zoo," Brown said. "But the king snake can be fed for 60 days on 10 cents worth of mice, and the skunk eats scraps and anything, so I'm keeping them."

START MOVE TO HALT REMARRYING DIVORCES

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—A resolution having for its ultimate aim placing of restrictions on Lutheran ministers from remarrying divorced couples was presented today at the convention of the church here.

The resolution asks the convention to instruct the commission on adjunction to make a study of the whole question of the remarriage of divorced couples and the duties of pastors in such cases and report at the 1926 convention.

BOY ORGANIZES ROUTE TO DELIVER WHISKY

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 23.—Once it was milk the boy delivered at the break of dawn—now it's whisky.

At least a Mexican boy here delivered whisky on a regular route until local officers waited a few yards from the doorstep and nabbed both the boy and the customer.

According to the officers, the boy had been making his deliveries under the guise that he was working for a dairy for several weeks.

The bottle which had been delivered was broken by the customer before the officers could confiscate it.

TEXAS' PECAN CROP ONE-THIRD NORMAL

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 23.—The Texas pecan crop will be about one-third normal this year, according to a condition report made by H. H. Schultz, federal agricultural statistician. Late rains have improved the crop in some sections while in others drought and insect damage have practically caused complete ruin.

A good crop is reported in most sections of Mexico which is expected to reduce the high holiday price.

REFUTES REPORT OF MEXICALA JAP COLONY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Reports that a commission composed of two members of the Japanese general staff and a number of financiers of Japan are in Lower California negotiating for the colonization of 20,000 Japanese on lands near Mexicali were declared unfounded by Consul General Ujino Oyama today.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HOLDS SECOND MEETING

Attended by 25 players, including four new members, the Port Arthur Symphony orchestra met for its second rehearsal this season Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in Franklin school, with Frank W. Kerns, conducting. The orchestra is in need of trombone players and French horn players, officials in the organization said today.

Don't let constipation make you an invalid—relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous a constipation until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation?

Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. That is why it is recommended so highly by doctors. They know that only ALL bran can bring 100 per cent results. Part bran is, at best, only a halfway measure.

If eaten regularly Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief—even in the most chronic case. It is guaranteed to do so. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Because it is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. Like nature, it acts naturally. It makes the intestine function regularly.

Eat it every day—two tablespoonfuls in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Enjoy it in those wonderful recipes given on every package.

The flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, is delicious. It is crisp, nut-like. Quite different from ordinary bran, which are so unpalatable. Kellogg's Bran is made in Battle Creek and served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

Deutser Sponsors Class In Gymnastics Tonight

First gathering of the Port Arthur business men's athletic class is arranged for tonight at 7:30 o'clock in De Queen school building gymnasium, when about 20 or 25 men here are expected to report for athletic work outs, those organizing the class said today.

Julius Deutser is sponsor of the plan for a gathering of business men's athletic class for indoor sports, and Captain D. W. Eddy, Scout Executive, will direct the instruction. The only fees are covering the expense of the use of the school gymnasium, and old clothes and rubber soled shoes will be worn, officials said today.

Second Annual Dad And Son Banquet

The second annual Father and Son banquet at the Port Arthur Lions club is arranged for Friday night at 7 o'clock in the Plaza hotel, with Chester Huff and Rev. R. R. Yelder, man in charge of the program, officials of the club said today.

"If you haven't a boy of your own, bring somebody else, but above all things, bring a boy, and age does not matter," L. J. Paschal, secretary, urged the Lions in the weekly letter, out today.

Lions who will be unable to attend the banquet are urged to call telephone 219 not later than Friday noon, Paschal set forth in his letter.

V. of A. Opening Up Hotel for Destitute

Taking over the Anchorage hotel, 310 San Antonio avenue, and purchasing the equipment, the Volunteers of America in Port Arthur have located their headquarters in the establishment and are providing beds and meals for needy transients, Captain and Mrs. J. R. Slade, in charge of the local work, said today.

Purchase of the furnishings of the hotel was made with a part of the proceeds from the drive for funds waged by the Volunteers in the city recently, netting the organization $1,500 in cash and pledges, the Slades said. With the exception of 10 free beds, the Anchorage hotel has accommodations for about 20, the Volunteer officials said.

During the past week employment was found for 13 men who applied for help, Captain Slade said.

SUNSET TRAIN SEEN BY 1,854

All Steel Car Traveling
Equipment Inspected

Visited by 1,854 Port Arthurians, the new Sunset Limited passenger train to be put into service by the Southern Pacific between New Orleans and San Francisco, spent an hour and a half in Port Arthur Wednesday night, parking at the freight depot, Seventh street and Austin avenue.

Equipment on the new train is featured by all steel cars, compartment and drawing room sleepers, combination baggage and club car, valet service for men and maid service for women travelers, soda fountain pressing and barber shops and bath.

The train brought to Port Arthur Wednesday night is one of 12, which cost about $6,000,000, built for the Southern Pacific's daily transcontinental service.

On the New Orleans and San Francisco run, the new Sunset Limited will reduce the traveling time an hour and 15 minutes, and for the entire route, only four engine changes will be necessary. Southern Pacific officials said. Making the trip through Houston, Galveston, and on into North Texas are a number of Southern Pacific officials, including Col. C. J. Anderson, general agent, passenger department, Houston; W. C. McCormick, general passenger agent, Houston; L. W. Rowe, Houston, traveling engineer; O. M. Longmeyer, Houston; K. M. Hoover, transportation inspector, Houston; T. L. Cleveland, traveling agent, and George W. Patterson, traveling passenger agent, Beaumont; General Electrician Pikes, Houston; J. B. McDermott, Pullman car conductor; D. R. Needham, assistant superintendent of dining car service; Tom Platt, engineer, and Fred Hobson, brakeman, besides several of the oil and trusted porters of the line.

Officials this morning expressed regret the lights on the train went out suddenly and 500 people were unable to inspect it. The train had been burning its lights continuously for three nights without the batteries being recharged and caused them to run down and the sudden darkness, these said.

GOLF BALL PUTS END TO FIRE SQUAD DRILL

DEL RIO, Texas, Oct. 23.—(AP.) Rio's firebros had to "knock off" from fire drill one day recently and all because of the poor aim of some golfer.

At the height of the drill, while the hoses were playing streams of water in copious quantities on imaginary fires, a lovely golf ball was swung through the hose and into one of the nozzles.

The ball, in good condition and "rarin'" for another game, was removed and the fire fighting continued.

PIMPLES QUICKLY CLEARED UP

So-called skin diseases are caused by poisons from the perspiration becoming congested in the tiny pores and glands of the skin because they can't get out. Unhealthy skin holds them back and you know what must happen when you continue to let this condition exist. For this reason "skin lotions," etc., can't possibly help you cure. You need what is known as Black and White Ointment, which breaks the sore, builds up the tissue of the skin, makes it active, so it naturally expels all the acid poisons which the system must throw off through the pores. Then, pimples, blotches, "breaking out," eczema, etc., quickly disappear.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced in generous packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have Black and White Soap, too, so you can keep your face, neck, hands and arms lovely and clear.—Adv.

PROPOSE UNIQUE PLAN TO ARBITRATE CASE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 23.—A unique method of arbitration, with the settlement of the long waged battle between the city of San Antonio and the local gas company as its goal, is proposed by the Grubstake Investment company of near Three Rivers.

The investment company proposes that nine men be selected to act as a jury by a district or county judge. Each side would strike out three names, leaving three to act. Each contestant would state his own case in person.

No one who ever practiced law would be eligible to act as an arbitrator, thereby avoiding legal phrases and saving both time and money. The decision of the arbitrators would be final with no appeal.

For the past several years Mr. Wiese has sent presents to his relatives in these distant countries, and fully realizes the importance of getting them off in time.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from my back. I was in such a shape that I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

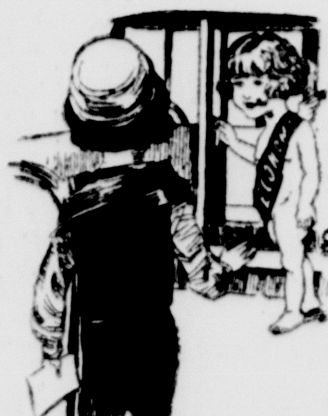

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY BEFORE THEY CALL, I WILL ANSWER; AND WHILE THEY ARE YET SPEAKING, I WILL HEAR.—ISA. 65:24. DESPATCH IS THE SOUL OF BUSINESS.—LORD CHESTERFIELD.

The Editorial Mind

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorials

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING? A side light has been thrown upon the important question whether life was worth living or not, by the recent experiments of Professor Flugel.

No one can resist statistics and, in the wealth of arguments on the question, it is refreshing to have some solid facts.

The professor selected nine men to walk about with note books for a month in a comparatively unpleasant atmosphere. I do not know what, and note, all the time, their feeling of pleasure and displeasure.

To sum up the whole of the results they came out pretty well on the ordeal. 67.72 per cent of their experiences were pleasant and only 32.28 per cent unpleasant. One of the group spent 1 1/2 per cent of his time in a state of pure ecstasy. He does not say whether this was due to eating, drinking, making love or reading poetry. The gloomiest of them was happy 40 per cent of the time and unhappy 36 per cent.

One result of the test was noteworthy; the professor discovered that those who experience the extremes of happiness or dejection are, on the whole, the unhappiest. This is merely another way of saying that those who were incapable of feeling any deep emotion suffer less than those who feel deeply.

The ability to suffer pain is the cutting edge of the ability to enjoy pleasure and, as a rule, those who enjoy things the most are those who suffer other things the most. Their happiness or unhappiness is due to their ability to receive impressions. Every man has looked at the lower creatures, including all animals and some human beings, and envied them because their general level of happiness seems to be above his own and they do not have the times of dejection which he experiences. But we should remember that the ability to enjoy is in direct proportion to our ability to suffer and, if we enjoy anything keenly, that is proof that we can suffer keenly.

Whether on the whole it is better to have such a calm disposition that we can neither suffer nor enjoy is a question that the reader will have to settle for himself.

The human being needs to require a certain average. If he goes below it he must go above it and vice versa.

One lesson we may learn from all this is that self-restraint makes for long life and a general average of happiness. That is, those who restrain themselves from giving away too much in the one direction are those who will not be called upon to suffer in the other direction.

In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A little old woman, frail and gray-haired, was killed by a heavy auto at Fifth Avenue and Sixteenth street the other day.

The body lay there, covered with old sacks, for an hour and a half while the world looked on. Then it was taken to a station house. This gruesome incident is due to a red tape in municipal government.

Over in Third Avenue there is a restaurant where the appetite may be whetted and wetted by libations not countenanced under the eighteenth amendment. The drinks are served in coffee cups.

Girls who wait on the table usually invite the patron to invite them to a drink. They get a commission on the drinks sold.

Usually the waitress, invited to have a drink, casually turns to the head waiter and says, "Make mine iced."

And usually they get away with it because the ordinary diner on Third Avenue doesn't know enough Latin to know that aqua means water.

Poverty stalks through rich Gotham, but seldom does it rear its head to bring discomfort to those who keep to their own paths.

For three days I've passed furniture piled on the curb on Thirty-third street. It was thrown out of a flat while a policeman stood guard. Disposses, probably.

The furniture is old and marred, but bears evidence of having been once new and pretty and of fair quality. Now the owner evidently is too poor to have it hauled away.

What is the story behind this mute tragedy? Where are the people who built their homes around the chairs, the bed, the stove standing there like a skeleton on the curb?

Life, especially in New York, is full of untold stories.

ZANNI FAILS TO FIND SHIP'S UNDERWRITERS

TOKIO, Oct. 23.—Zanni, Argentine world flyer, is having much difficulty in completing his trip since insurance companies are reluctant to underwrite three ships necessary to accompany him on the flight and the ship owners will not charter them without insurance.

UNITED STATES BANK IN IOWA IS CLOSED

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 23.—The United States bank here was closed today by order of its board of directors. Heavy withdrawals which had reduced the bank's resources, were announced as the cause. The bank had a capital stock of $200,000.

HENRY FORD, POLITICS, MUSCLE SHOALS AND THE G.O.P. TICKET

Henry Ford says Muscle Shoals is not a live issue with the Ford's any longer and Collier's Weekly says the flivver billionaire has withdrawn his bid for the plant.

All the billionaires and near billionaires are flocking together in this campaign. They are backing Coolidge and Dawes. In the list will be found all the noted international bankers.

There is a reason for this. They believe in the Mellon plan of taxation. This is their American privilege. They believe in an income tax as high on an earned income as an unearned income.

That is, the producers of wealth of the country, which includes the farmers and the wage earners, should pay as high a tax as the sons of the idle rich who are neither producers nor wealth makers.

In addition to this they are opposed to a tax on wealth. They favor a tax on tangible property and brain and muscle. Birds of a feather are said to flock together. It is no doubt a legitimate flocking as the pocketbook of man is said to come first.

Henry was a wage earner twenty-five years ago. Now he is the second richest man in America. Twenty-five years ago he would have fought the Mellon plan of taxation. Now that he is a billionaire he favors the Mellon plan of taxation.

The proposition is as plain as the nose on your face. This is Henry's latest. "We are not in politics and we are in business. We do not intend to be drawn into politics."

Bosh. Henry was in politics when as the friend of Wilson he was ambitious to be a United States senator. He was in politics, big politics, when he endorsed the Mellon plan a year ago. He was in politics when he declared for Coolidge for president for he knows that if Coolidge wins the owner of the aluminum trust will be the big man of the republican administration until 1928.

Why should a billionaire quibble? Why should a billionaire assume a false position?

HYLAN ON THE ROAD

Mayor John F. Hylan in a letter to President Coolidge, asked the president for an official statement concerning the safeguard provided American investors in the $110,000,000 loan to Germany. Mayor Hylan said that "silence becomes sinister at such a time as this."

Silence is the strong point of the president. Silence is the strong point of any man afflicted with mediocre ability called by fortune or accident to high place. Silence is a magnificent safeguard.

There are men, some of them to be found in Texas, who have a reputation for wisdom all due to their silent habit and those who know them best agree without division of sentiment that they have less wisdom than a flock of tom-tits.

Hylan is the official voice of William Randolph Hearst in the city of New York. When Publisher Hearst is not speaking through Arthur Brisbane in an official capacity, he speaks through John F. Hylan in his official capacity.

Brisbane is going to vote for the Mellon plan and Coolidge and Dawes. Hylan has pledged himself to Davis and Bryan.

As usual, the president maintains silence. Why should the German loan be made a campaign issue? Why should Coolidge commit himself one way or the other? "Tisn't the New England way, especially when a New Englander is seeking votes.

HEROISM HAS ITS REWARD

Captain John Coolidge was a soldier of the American revolution and the founder of the Coolidge family in America. His dust reposes in a little cemetery near Plymouth, Vermont. This soldier who fought all through the Revolutionary war remained unhonored and unsung until early in October of this year. Then the Daughters of the American Revolution of New Hampshire discovered that the grave was unmarked.

Of course these patriotic women were shocked but they ordered direct action.

A marker was placed on the grave and now the name and the fame of Captain John Coolidge has been preserved for posterity. Very thrifty indeed are Vermonters. They always count the cost. When they count it no doubt they ask what's a monument or a marker to perpetuate the name and the fame of a soldier who fought for freedom in the long, long ago?

Your Money AT WORK
Brief but important lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments
BUYING NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS IS RISKY BECAUSE IT IS LIKE PURCHASING GOODS IN THE DARK
Traffic in negotiable instruments is a very risky form of investment for the average man to have anything to do with.
(a). His probable unacquaintance with the parties on the instrument.
(b). His limited or lack of knowledge of the financial and moral responsibility of the parties to the instrument.
(c). His ignorance of the genuineness of the signatures of the parties whose names appear upon the paper.
NOTE: Of course the uniform negotiable instrument law now in force in every state and territory of the United States, with possibly one or two exceptions, provides in effect that the payee and all subsequent indorsers guarantee the genuineness of the signatures, and the legal capacity to make and indorse the instrument, but if the signature are forgeries, or those of infants, the ultimate holder of the note will have acquired mere form, devoid of all real substance.
MOBBERS OF GIRL ENTER GUILTY PLEAS
FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 23.—Fourteen members of the mob that subjected pretty Dorothy Grandon to a tarring and feathering party at Myerstown last July, pleaded guilty today to the rioting court in their indictment. The pleas of guilty followed the conviction of three ring leaders in the mob—Mrs. Mary V. Shanks, whose husband had been attentive to Dorothy; Arthur Rice and Harry Leatherman. Five of the accused pleaded not guilty.
Those already convicted and pleaded guilty will be sentenced later. Others will be tried.
WIFE SAYS SPOUSE TRIED TO BURN HER
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William Quest, a chauffeur, was held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury by Magistrate Barrett in the Morrisania court, accused by his wife, Augusta, of having tried to burn her and her two children in their beds.
Quest has been separated from Mrs. Quest, his second wife, for about two years. The court was told that three weeks ago Quest wrote to his wife: "You'll get all that's coming to you."
She had heard Malcolm Finley, at the same time, leave the terrace and go into the house, walking through the rear hall, and out on the east veranda. She had listened intently but didn't hear Nan follow him—a distinct disappointment to Miss Mattie.
Tonight they will be guests at a dinner at the Hotel Esplanade, owned by the estate of Hugo Stinnes.

BANK BANDITS STEAL 300-POUND SAFE
TULSA, Okla., Oct. 23.—Robbers early today rolled a 300-pound safe through the back door of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank at Tulsa, near here, loaded it on a motor truck and escaped. The safe contained $1,885.
George S. Mays of Claremore, president of the bank brought enough cash from his home to open the bank as usual.
This is the second robbery in this section of the state in a week in which robbers have carried away bank safes.
SENATOR'S SUICIDE LAID TO BANKRUPTCY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Financial investments to the extent of nearly $1,000,000 preyed heavily on the mind of the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut, and led to his suicide, friends said today after a checkup of his affairs.
Brandegee's properties were heavily mortgaged. Friends say he overreached himself in trying to finance real estate deals. Trying to squirm out of the financial hole in which he found himself, Brandegee borrowed from banks and friends until the limit of his credit was reached and even his $150,000 home passed to a bank.

The Affair at Flower Acres
© 1924 by NEA Service Inc. WELLS
BEGIN HERE TODAY
Malcolm Finley, returning from Japan, is invited to Flower Acres, the Long Island home of Douglas Raynor, husband of Nancy, who is a former sweetheart of Finley's. Finley discovers that Raynor is transmuting over Nancy and is incensed. At Flower Acres are Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley's; Nancy, her devoted brother, Orville Kent; Douglas Raynor; Raynor's sister, Miss Mattie, and others. Finley realizes that he is regarded with suspicion by Raynor and Miss Mattie because of his old love affair with Nancy. This—and the constant abuse Raynor heaps upon his wife—anger Finley extremely. Raynor overhears a conversation between Finley and Nancy and orders Finley to leave the house. "I promise that if you will remove your presence I will at once transform myself into the most gentle, loving and kind-hearted of husbands," he sneers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"You can never say another word to me, of any sort whatever." And in a fury Finley left them.
He was sure he had made a fool of himself. Sure he had earned Nan rather than helped her.
Finley went to his room, but he did not dare begin to pack his things. He sat down by a window and gazed out over the flowers, the sea and sky, and let his thoughts grow calmer and more practical.
Was there no way he could help Nan? No task would be too hard, no service too difficult, if he could but make up for the trouble and annoyance he had caused her.
For he had small doubt but that Raynor would wreck on his wife the anger he must feel toward himself. Finley.
A long time he thought and sighed as he pondered.
And then, instead of packing his kit and starting for the train, he bathed and dressed and presented himself on the western terrace just as tea was being brought there.
Finley did not look at his host or speak to him, but as there were present most of the family, and a few neighbors, this omission was not noticed.
"Oh, yes, then you may," she beamed. "After I pass the buns we'll talk it over."
Finley had seated himself, not near Nan, but where he could watch her. In fact, he was beside Miss Mattie, who was more than ready to entertain him.
And it was during one of her long and rambling discourses, the Finley, watching Nan, again saw that quick, furtive motion as of dropping something in Raynor's teacup.
"Saccharine, sure," he thought. "She can fool him then?" he thought. "But seems to me she could fool him often and better than she does."
Tea over, they lingered on the terrace. Another gorgeous sunset was under way.
"Barely does that old sun get a chance to sink to rest in such a bed of beauty," said Eva Turner, who was always loquacious at tea time.
"There she goes!" cried Dolly, as the last of the great flaming disk dropped out of sight. "And I must go, too, or mother will blow me up sky-high. Who'll walk to the bridge with me?"
"I will," said Orrie, who was a born cavalier, and likewise a fond of gay little Dolly.
But they carried until the other guests had taken leave and then, as they sauntered across the lawn, down toward the bridge over the tiny brook that separated the two estates, the sinister dusk was creeping in from the darkening horizon.
"I'm jealous of your other Prince," Kent bantered, and Dolly said, seriously. "He isn't really mine, he's Nan's."
"Nonsense! What has Nan to do with Prince?"
"Oh, it doesn't matter that she's married to that old hobnob. I mean that can't stop her loving her Prince."
"Don't, Dolly! It isn't nice for a little girl to say things like that."
"Nice or not—it's true talk. You see, Nan ought to have married Mr. Finley in the first place."
"Hush, Dolly," Kent spoke sternly. "Nan's my sister, and I forbid you to gossip about her."
"All right, Orrie. I won't. Miss Mattie isn't your sister, is she? May I talk about her?"
"Yes, if you like," and the young man smiled.
"Well, she's a middlesome Mattie. What do you s'pose she's doing now? She's looking down here at us."
The two were on the bridge now. The little rustic affair that added picturesqueness to the scene. Dolly had turned and was looking back toward the house.
"What sharp eyes you have," Kent said, looking, too. "I can scarcely see her. The dark comes quickly."
"Yes," Dolly looked at her wrist-watch. "It's just seven o'clock. I must run. Goodbye, Orrie."
"Goodbye," Kent said, looking at his own watch, and starting off toward the house.
Middlesome Mattie had been looking out the window at the two strolling across the lawn, but there was no more to it than idle curiosity. It was her habit to do everything and everybody, in hope of learning something she was not meant to know.
From her own room, with the windows all open, she had heard her brother leave the terrace and go into the sun parlor—that was doubtless to avoid the darkness.
She had heard Malcolm Finley, at the same time, leave the terrace and go into the house, walking through the rear hall, and out on the east veranda. She had listened intently but didn't hear Nan follow him—a distinct disappointment to Miss Mattie.
Mr. Goddard, she knew, was in his own room. And Eva Turner was bustling about, now in her bedroom, then on the stairs, then to the kitchen and back again—of course, intent upon her dietary duties.

Despairing of any further sounds of interest, Miss Mattie snuggled on her lights and looked at her clock. It was five minutes to seven then. Time to begin to dress for dinner. And then, though not listening intently, Miss Mattie's ears were startled by the sound of a single shot.
Indeed, at first she didn't recognize it as a shot. So often a supposed shot had been a blow-out or a burst tire, that now, when it was really a shot, she naturally thought it something else. For a moment no sounds followed, and then various light footfalls could be heard below.
Still unthinking of tragedy, Miss Mattie stepped out into the hall, and though half and stairs were as yet unlighted, she felt her way to the banister rail and started slowly down the stairs.
When half way down she could discern a white figure standing in the door between the hall and the sun parlor, but as she came on, the figure which she knew to be that of Eva Turner went through the doorway and the next instant the lights of the sun parlor were flashed on.
Miss Mattie scurried the rest of the way down and peeped through the hall door into the sun room.
On the floor lay her brother in an ungainly heap, near him stood Malcolm Finley, an automatic pistol in his hand, and her door, her hand, still on the light switch, stood Eva Turner.
She was not looking at Finley, but in the opposite direction, toward the west door of the sun room.
And at that door, in another moment, appeared Nan, white-faced and terrified.
Then, as Nan stepped into the room, Orville Kent also came in from the south side, through the outside door that opened on the lawn and flower beds that ran down to the brook.
"What is it?" he cried; then, catching sight of Raynor's fallen figure, and taking in Finley with the pistol, Kent sprang across the room to put his arm around the shaking form of his sister.
"Move, somebody! Do something!" came from Miss Turner in a hysterical shriek.
"Oh, Douglas!" Miss Mattie cried, and tottered to a chair.
"Who—who did it?" gasped Nan, her voice almost inaudible.
"Who did it?" mocked Miss Turner. "There he stands—with his weapon still in his hand!"
"—I didn't do it," Malcolm Finley said, and quickly added, "I don't think I did."
"Oh, you don't!" and Miss Turner's scorn fell on him. "Well, then, Mrs. Raynor did it! As I came to this door I heard the shot, and before I could get the light on I saw you both!"
"How could you see without the light on?" asked Orville Kent, stolidly.
Ezra Goddard came then, shocked and wondering; Hatfield, the butler, appeared, and several maid servants huddled in the background.
"Somebody must take charge here," Goddard said, going toward the stricken man; "perhaps he isn't dead."
"Oh," said Nan, her frightened eyes starting, "don't let him!"
"Hush, Nan," said her brother. "Will you let me take you to your room?"
"No, no, Orrie. I must stay here—I must! You stay by me!"
"Yes, Nan," and Kent placed her in a big chair, and then sat near her.

Garver of Wesleyan college succeeded to the science chair at Mercer university here today, replacing Dr. Henry Fox, who was ousted because of his religious beliefs. His removal was protested by the student body and he has not yet officially resigned.

BOBBED HAIR IS DEFENDED

Bishop Says Modern Girl, Boy Are 'Okey'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—Bobbed hair, flesh-colored hosiery and popular songs were defended by Bishop Edwin Holt-Hughes, of the Chicago archdiocese, speaking before the Methodist men's convention here last night.

"The editors are prone to be critical of the young," the bishop declared. "We find fault with their hair, their dress and their language. At no time in 50 years have the relations between the parents and the coming generations been so strained."

The songs of the present generation were contrasted with those of a generation ago. The "bassus song" of the present day is no worse than "Pharaoh's Daughter on the Bank, Little Moses in the Pool," sung 35 years ago by those who are now crying about "youth's degeneracy," the bishop said.

JAPAN DON'T WANT PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

MANILA, Oct. 23.—M. Imouze, member of the house of representatives of Japan, who is here to investigate business conditions in the Philippine Islands, has declared that Japan had no intention of grabbing the Philippines in the event that America grants them independence.

"As a member of the parliament of Japan, I know my country has never entertained a thought of adding the Philippines to her colonies," said M. Imouze. "All talk about Japan taking over the Philippines the moment the United States grants them independence is absolutely groundless."

MISSOURI ADOPTS BIG ELECTION BALLOT

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 23.—When Missourians go to the polls Nov. 4 they will be handed the largest ballot in the history of the state, Charles U. Becker, secretary of state, announced today.

The ballot will be 12 1/2 inches wide and 10 inches long and will have columns for the names of every political party, all of which will be headed by the elephant for the G. O. P., Statue of Liberty for the democrats, Liberty Bell for the La Follette-Progressives, two hands clasped around the globe for the socialists, the Arm and Hammer for the socialist labor party, and the Camel for the prohibition party.

FREE STATE FINANCE DECLARED IN BLACK

DUBLIN, Oct. 23.—The Free State revenue returns for the first five months of this year show reductions in both revenue and expenditure. The revenue has fallen from 11,000,000 pounds last year to 11,000,000 pounds this year, while the expenditure has fallen from 14,500,000 pounds to just over 12,000,000 pounds, most of the economy being effected in the cost of the army.

The figures are regarded as satisfactory, and the Irish Times, the paper of the Free State, concludes that "with political stability and reduced taxation the financial affairs of the Free State would soon become as sound as the affairs of any other country of the Free State size in the world."

JAIL BREAKER PULLS NEW ONE ON COPS

GREENVILLE, Mo., Oct. 23.—Here's a new way to escape from jail. Clyde Perry, recently arrested here on a robbery charge, tried it and it worked fine.

When the jailer opened the door to hand Perry his evening meal, Perry made a flying tackle, dashing his captor and then dashed off to freedom in the darkness.

Now jail officials are planning to feed prisoners food through a hole in the barred door.

New X-Ray May Hold Fear for Bootlegger

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Thanks to Dr. W. D. Coolidge and his scientific colleagues at the General Electric Research Laboratories here, the advantages of being on the outside looking in are now greatly increased.

The men with the inkling in going to have a much more certain outlook. And, whereas the "walls had ears," they now have eyes as well.

For the announcement has been made that the inventors have devised a portable X-ray machine which will pierce walls and floors, suit cases and trunks quite as readily as the X-ray of old penetrated the body and revealed a broken rib.

But to what extent is human privacy to be invaded? That is the question that floods laboratory walls since the device was announced.

Experiments thus far do not indicate that personal privacy will be greatly endangered, for the time at least.

Mrs. X can go to the Wednesday night poker club with reasonable assurance that Mrs. X is not on the outside tuning up the X-ray machine and looking in on him. Nor has it been perfected to that stage where it will be of material advantage to seekers of divorce evidence.

But that day may come. It is predicted for the instrument is still largely a laboratory experiment and potentialities can only be guessed at.

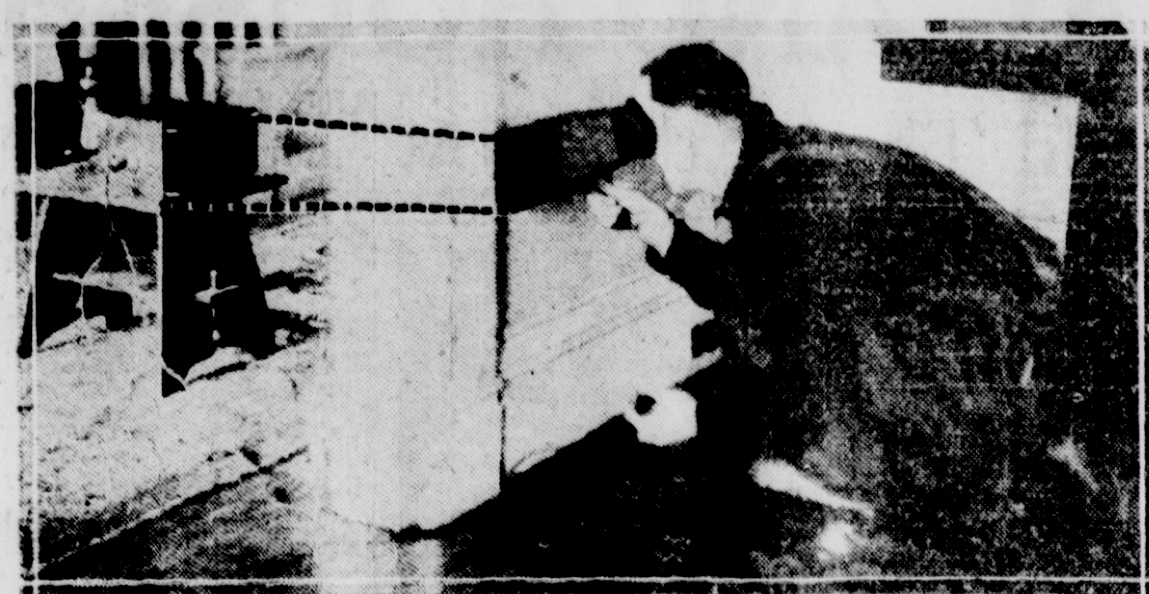

However, it may be a life-saving first-aid to the overworked prohibition officer. Trunks and suitcases can be penetrated by the rays and such laws of search rights as exist may have to be changed to cover peepights as well.

The little machine is so easily carried about that almost any prohibition officer, revenue agent or customs official could pack it about. It weighs but 30 pounds, occupies a space of 15x10 inches and can be used by connecting it with any extension cord, lamp socket or base plug.

Among its assured applications, the scientists explain, are these:

Inspection of canned goods after having been sealed by automatic canning machines. If internal defects exist they can be readily discovered by turning on the light.

Examination of the interiors of boxes, trunks and suitcases. Thus smuggling, booze running and all that sort of thing can be detected.

How the newly discovered portable X-ray can be used is illustrated above while, at the side, is a portrait of Dr. D. W. Coolidge, who developed it.

while a commercial value is attached to this method of penetration.

Walls can be pierced for defects in plumbing or wiring, plastering or woodwork. All internal ills of a house can be readily diagnosed and corrected without tipping out great sections of the building.

Jewelry can penetrate a gem and detect whether or not they are spurious.

Laboratory equipment can be searched for physical properties which heretofore have defied discovery.

This, generally, is just a beginning. "It is quite likely that other practical applications not at present known will develop as more extensive use is given," says a statement from the laboratory.

Meanwhile the poker club scenes will have to be limited to parlors and bedrooms scenes to farces and divorce courts.

Galveston Team Yields to Yellowjackets By Forfeit

ONLY 4 ABLE TO PLAY, SAYS ISLAND COACH

Practice Called Off For Week At Galveston

IT'S all off. Talking about the Yellowjacket game over at Galveston Saturday, of course. Positive word was received from Coach Kennedy yesterday afternoon that the game was off, and the telegram was followed up with a letter arriving this morning.

While the loss of the stiff competition expected at the island city will harm the Yellowjackets, still the turn of things will have its beneficial effect in that it will put the unholy fear of Beaumont into the squad. It was the Beaumont High Purple that was responsible for calling off Saturday's game. The purple bruises given the little Golden Tornado last Saturday at Beaumont put the team in such shape that Coach Kennedy claims only four of his 20 men are in shape to play football Saturday. Therefore, the game had to be called off.

With Play Orange, Houston
Monday the Galvestonians thought the injuries would wear off during the week, no bones being broken, but it soon became evident that the squad would need two weeks rest before it could meet strong opposition again. Laguarda in the backfield and Hutchings, Morris and Merkle in the line are reported as the only players in shape to play. Practice has been called off entirely this week at Galveston in an effort to have the boys in shape by next week-end.

Galveston plays Orange November 1, and on the following Saturday Central High is met at Houston. South Park High school of Beaumont plays at Beaumont on November 15. Every effort is being made by Coach Smith of the Yellowjackets to arrange a game here for Saturday. Allen Academy of Bryan wants a game with Port Arthur but cannot play until next week. A telegram has been dispatched to Morgan City, La., asking for a game. Morgan City has been cleaning up its games this year, and was one of the strongest teams in its section last year. Lake Charles, the team that is playing in Ohio this week, has been defeated by Morgan City.

Yellowjackets "Bunged Up"
Should no game be scheduled for Saturday, Coach Smith and some of the Yellowjackets may take in the Houston Central-Orange game at Houston Saturday.

Coach Smith said this morning that there was no particular reason for cheering over the team so far as injuries go. Although none of the boys are limping around with severe injuries, they are practically all more or less bunged up with chafes, bruises and what not.

The following letter was received by Smith this morning from Marvin Kennedy, Galveston High coach.

"It was with much regret that I had to cancel our game for Saturday, but my message to you Monday night was self-explanatory, and I feel that I notified you in due time.

"We wanted to play this game as much as you did, and it would have been our only chance to stay in the league race. But the thinking of playing it under present conditions would be absurd.

"I have 31 boys on my squad, 11 of whom would make fit material for a grammar school team, leaving me with a squad of 20 men. Of this 20 men I have one backfield man, one tackle, one end and a center who would be available for a game Saturday. In fact, the others are not able to practice at all this week. So you see it's not a case of we don't want to play you. It's a case of not having a team to play you with.

"The game is forfeited to you. I to 0, keeping your slate clean in the interscholastic league, removing us entirely from the race, and while I'm sorry that such conditions exist, it absolutely cannot be helped. Best luck to you in your remaining games.

Yours very truly,
MARVIN KENNEDY."

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusts did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but still give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me Eugene M. Pullen Carpenter, 2381 Marcellus Avenue, Minneapolis, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture, and the worry and danger of an operation.

WORKOUTS AT HOUSTON PUT VIC IN SHAPE

Match at Elks Theater to Start at 8:30

Accompanied by Julius Sigel, Houston sports promoter, Vic Tuohy, 23-year-old Irish boy who meets Tony Bernardi, "The Gas House Wop," in a finish, no-time-limit tilt in Elks arena here tonight, arrived in Port Arthur Wednesday night ready for a grueling contest.

Tuohy, according to the word passed out by Sigel, is fresh from a couple of weeks' training in the Houston stable, and is expected to show some whirlwind stuff on the local mats tonight.

Sigel will represent Promoter John Wallace here tonight, the latter being confined to a sick bed in a Houston hospital, where he has been under treatment for several days.

Tuohy Ready for Tony
Bernardi, who has been in and out of Port Arthur for the past ten days, is "fit as a fiddle," he said last night, and is confident of topping the Houston boy in quick fashion. Tony is promising the fans some exciting stuff in the form of new tricks and rough tactics, and says he intends to get together with Tuohy than he was with Jones.

But Tuohy, with his systematic attack of hooks, leg scissors, headlocks and toeholds, hopes to offset the brutality of his opponent, and it is quite likely that Bernardi will find a willing foe in the Boston Irishman. Tuohy doesn't mind the rough stuff he "threw a tooth" in his initial match against Jones, when the latter planned a series of headlocks on the visiting Irishman, but the loss didn't do the Irishman.

"I'm over the sore spots," Tuohy said last night. "And I'm once used to the climate than I was at first. I think that will help me a lot."

The Bostonian and "The Wop" were seen together when "The Gas House Wop" was in the center of the "has ring" both were considered at Central hotel last night, and Tuohy had crawled in the hay and tucked the covers about his neck before Bernardi showed up, and "The Wop" was not informed by the clerk that his opponent for tonight's tilt was resting upstairs on the "second floor."

Wants Jones Match
Greetings don't bother Tony, however. His introduction to Tuohy to night will be welcomed only for the opportunity it affords the Irishman to get per to even up scores in Port Arthur and for the possibility of getting another wallop at Jones. From the standpoint of experience, "The Wop" has a slight edge over Tuohy, with several years to his credit; and Tony is perhaps the roughest man in the game. But Tuohy has youth, vitality and equally as much nerve as "The Wop."

The curtain rings up at 8:30 o'clock.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Just what does "relax" mean, as applied to golf? How can a player "relax" without losing control of the club?

Answered by CYRIL WALKER National open champion.

The word "relax," as applied to golf, simply means to be natural. With very few exceptions, practically all the beginners and average golfers are not natural, therefore when they take a grip on the club it is, in most cases, under tension. I find in my teaching that the best way to make a pupil relax is to give him an explanation somewhat as follows: I say to him, "When you walk or when you are eating do you do so under a strain? When you walk, do you just walk naturally, don't you? And when you eat do you grip your knife and fork with a vice-like hold or are you holding them just comfortably to control them?" After this explanation I find that the pupil begins to realize the difference and adds, "I walk with a grip which allows me to feel on an at the same time control."

Stagg, Nestor of Old Chicago, Praises Intersectional Frays

Post-Season Games Given Okeh if Scheduled Along With Other Games

BY HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Intersectional football has proven its value this season as a producer of understanding and a devotee of good sportsmanship and it should be promoted on an even larger scale, in the opinion of A. A. Stagg, athletic director at the University of Chicago, and one of the foremost authorities in amateur athletics in the United States.

"I have always been a booster for the intersectional idea in athletics," he said. "I know you will find that Chicago has been a pioneer in spreading its field of activity. I need only point to the friendly relations Chicago established and maintained with Cornell and Pennsylvania more than 20 years ago and also to our recent exchange of visits with Princeton."

Olympic Games Cited
"Last summer with the Olympic team I found a cordial feeling existing between rival athletes from every section of the country that could not have existed had those boys not been shown that the boys from the east were good sportsmen, that the north and the midwest were also good sportsmen and fine boys. The intersectional idea in football has done everything to bring that about."

"I have never promoted the idea of post season games for intersectional championships but I have maintained that such games might be arranged as regular scheduled games and that they would be productive of much good by getting away from the suggestion of exhibition games for funds that might be drawn at the game. This year I arranged a regular schedule game with California and that Syracuse did the same with the University of Southern California."

"Chicago has not been tested, really," he continued. "We lost to Cornell on a place kick that came after a kick had been blocked. It was an early game and the breaks counted."

"Chicago won an intersectional game from Brown one of the eastern teams, but I have reason to believe that Brown was not in the best of physical condition. I do know that Brown's center, one of the finest players in the game, was not in good shape, and I know what that meant to Brown's offense and defense."

"Indiana, in recent years, has not been the most formidable team in the conference and I know that Indiana last week was not advanced physically and technically as we were. Missouri caught us in the same fix."

YALE MEETS FRESHMEN
NEW HAVEN, Oct. 23.—Yale varsity will play the first time in two years battled in a routine practice game with the freshmen and put over two touchdowns on the starters, although they were held once for downs on the freshmen's five-yard line. PRINCETON GOES EASY
PRINCETON, Oct. 23.—The Tiger varsity will do a more scrimmaging before the Notre Dame game. Coach Bill Roper saying he was taking no chances on injuries. He cut them through long signal and kicking drill, which will continue the rest of the week.

ARMY WORKS AT NIGHT

Harrington's tackle, will not be able to play against Boston Saturday on account of a sprained ankle hurt in yesterday's workout.

NO. 3—WHAT HIGGLEDY-PIGGLEDY SAID

Daddy Gander stopped his magic dust pan then and there and told the tin rooster all about it.

"The first thing to do," said Daddy Gander as he and the Twins rode along through the sky on his magic dust-pan, "is to go to the top of the highest mountain in the world. Then we can look down and see everything. It shouldn't be a mite of trouble for us to see the House That Jack Built so poor!"

"Common sense," said Daddy Gander soundly. "And good advice! Thank you, Tin Rooster. Giddap!" he said to his magic dust-pan.

The magic dust-pan left the barn-roof and floated down to the barn-yard.

"What's that? What's that?" asked a voice close by. "What did you say?"

It was the tin rooster on the barn that was speaking, much to their surprise. The rooster was speaking—not the barn!

"What did you say about the House That Jack Built? I heard you say something out of my tin ear."

Daddy Gander stopped his magic dust-pan then and there and told the tin rooster all about it.

Crumpled-Horn and both gone. And the Dog-That-Worried-the-Cat is gone and the cat, too, and if you ask me I might say that even the rat is gone also."

"What rat?" said Nick.

"Stupid!" said the tin rooster whirling about to north, then to east, then to south, then to west in his search for the missing hen. "This is my cousin The-Cook-That-Crowed-at-the-Morn. Go and ask him at once. He rules the barnyard below. He ought to know all about it. Because he is the Priest All Shaven and Shorn."

"Who married the Man All Tattered and Torn to the Maiden All Forlorn?" said Nancy.

"Of course—of course," crowed the tin rooster turning south, then east and then north again. "I see you know all about it. If the Rooster-That-Crowed-in-the-Morn can tell you something about Mister and Mrs. mon sense to me."

"We'll go to the highest mountain," said Daddy Gander again. "Then we can get a view of the world and see where the lost house is. Come on, children!"

Tattered-and-Torn, the chances are that the mystery will be solved. Why shouldn't a newly married couple like a nice new house like the one that Jack built? Especially as they are

DRAKE GETS ENOUGH

The Spanish had small settlements all along the western coast of South America. Little was it suspected that an English ship would come along and disturb them. Not a single town was in shape for a battle.

Then along came Drake with his crack warship, the Golden Hind. He raided the Spanish towns and found them "easy money." Sometimes he did not take gold or jewels but other kinds of goods. For instance, at Valparaiso (which then had nine houses and a chapel) the booty consisted of bread, bacon, wine and also ten of the best horses in the country. The treasure was taken to the minister on board the ship.

The treasure gained from the towns was small compared to that taken

From Spanish ships. One vessel after another was captured and robbed of its contents. The most important treasure ship and that which in England was called the Spanish Ship, was caught after a chase and was found to contain a small amount of gold and a very large amount of silver. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, independent vice presidential candidate, kept a large audience delighted here last night as he grilled President Coolidge on the "witness stand."

Wheeler's address was a scathing denunciation of the republican administration and a defense of his running mate, Senator Robert M. La Follette.

"In voting against war, La Follette followed the dictates of a vast majority. But he never stabbed our soldiers in the back when they were in France. He never stabbed them in the back when they came home. He has voted always to help the disabled," Wheeler declared.

ASTHMA

Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Catarrh

Worst Cases Find Immediate Relief

The benefit derived from using Green Mountain Asthma Compound is not confined to the moderate and mild cases. We get hundreds of letters such as this one from Chas. F. Tilden, St. Louis, Mo.:
"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the relief afforded my wife by your invaluable Green Mountain Asthma Compound. We had a consultation of three physicians and they unanimously decided that my wife could not live forty-eight hours. Today just one week from that consultation, she is about the house doing her own work, and was very bad indeed when the Green Mountain Asthma Compound came. Within five minutes after using your Compound she breathed perfectly easy, and she has had no return of her trouble since. Her case created much astonishment among the physicians, and one of them requested to use what I had left on some of his patients."

Green Mountain Asthma Compound produces such remarkably quick results because its marvelous medication is carried to every nook and cell of the respiratory tract by its pleasant smoke vapor. It soothes, heals and restores the inflamed tissues by direct and thorough contact. So different from foolish inhalant nostrums that are usually failures and often dangerous.

There is no harmful or habit-forming drug in this mostly-vegetable compound. No amount of it could harm man, woman or child. For Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever and Bronchitis it has been recommended by druggists since 1865. If your druggist is out of it, write direct to J. H. Guild Co., Inc., Rupert, Vermont.

VIOLA DANA STARS

"Revelation," at the Peoples theatre to open today, from Mabel Wagner's book, "The Rosebush of a Thousand Years," which is founded on an old French legend. The legend tells of a monk in medieval times who planted a rosebush that never bloomed and the monk thought that its barrenness was a punishment for his sin. He prayed for forgiveness and the Virgin appeared to him, the bush blossoming forth with roses as a sign of his forgiveness.

Douglas MacLean is back at the Cameo theatre in "Never Say Die." MacLean is cast in the role of a wealthy young fellow who, if he doesn't marry, will have his fortune go to charity. So it is arranged for him to wed a beautiful girl who will become his sole heir. The fun begins when a gunman is hired to put him quietly out of the way—a his wife can marry her original fiancé who is his best friend—a divorce being too slow and complicated. Douglas' attempt to evade this killer and a host of other difficulties form the basis of the plot. His final attempt to escape his pursuers in a dilapidated hackney-cab is said to be about the funniest scene ever woven into a motion picture comedy.

"THE CONFIDENCE MAN"

"The Confidence Man," at the Strand theatre closes today. Thomas Meighan is the star. Virginia Valli has the leading woman's role, and others in the cast include Laurence Wheat, Charles Dow Clarke, Helen Lindroth and Jimmie Lapsley. The story is a crack melodrama.

Bottles Fly With Words In British Race

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Razors, bottles, wrenches and stones figure in the British election campaign today. Violence, reminiscent of the days of the suffragettes and the Irish disturbers, marked meetings in many constituencies.

In South London, a man was knocked unconscious with a bottle and several others were severely injured by wrenches in the hands of hecklers.
